

A top-down photograph of a Moroccan Limestone Range. The floor is composed of large, irregular, light-colored limestone tiles with a natural, porous texture. A piece of light-colored, textured fabric is draped over the tiles in the upper left. In the upper right, a small white bowl filled with white flowers sits on the fabric, with a branch of pink and white blossoms extending across it. The text "Moroccan Limestone Range" is overlaid in a white serif font across the middle of the image.
